

Timber Ridge Opens Pedestrian Walkway with Mosaic Tile Mural

ISSAQUAH, Wash. – Timber Ridge, a resort-style senior living Life Plan Community, has opened a mosaic tiled pedestrian walkway that runs exclusively throughout the community.

Included in the tunnel walkway is a dramatic mosaic tile mural measuring 8' by 13' featuring a large raven, inspired by the designs of Pacific Northwest Coastal Native Americans. The raven is said to be a creature of metamorphosis, and symbolizes change/transformation.

The original working design was created by architect Lynn Forrest in 1967 for installation in a bank in Juneau, Alaska. Karen Dempsey of Western Tile in Bellevue translated the design into the grand mosaic tile that graces the new pedestrian walkway at Timber Ridge.

The mosaic tile was donated by Timber Ridge resident Bob Smyth. “I am so pleased that I was able to find the perfect home for this amazing piece, and am delighted to see it displayed in the pedestrian walkway for all the residents to enjoy,” said Smyth.
